Dear readers,

This is the first edition of the Address Book of Religious Communities in Macedonia. Macedonian Centre for International Cooperation (MCIC) maintains and extends the positive experience with the Address Book of the Civic Organizations in Macedonia (seven editions, the last one in 2003) and the Address Book of the Local Self-government Units in Macedonia (2002).

The Address Book is aimed at increasing the information fund as regards the churches, religious communities, and religious groups in Macedonia, not only amongst themselves, but also amongst the general public. It coincides with one of the goals of the Bridging religions in Macedonia programme (PRM), within the framework of which the publishing of this Address Book is realized.

The Address Book covers 23, out of 25 religious communities, registered with the Commission for Relations with the Religious Communities, under the Law on religious communities and religious groups (Official Gazette 37/1997-1426). Taking into consideration that one of the two religious communities, not included in this catalog, has not updated the data since the initial registration, and the other one seeks re-registration in order to get status of citizens’ association, we may say that the Address Book has provided complete coverage.

The Address Book contains basic information for the religious communities (contact information, clerical titles, type and number of religious objects, religious ceremonies, religious Educational institutions:, publishing activity), as well as photos depicting the seat and the principle religious objects.

The Address Book has been published in Macedonian language, as well as abridged version in Albanian and English language. The Address Book has been published thanks to the intensive and good cooperation with all the churches, religious communities, and religious groups in Macedonia, with special thanks to the members of the Steering Committee and the Editorial Board of the Bridging religions in Macedonia programme (PRM) program: Macedonian Orthodox Church (MOC), Islamic Community in republic of Macedonia (IC), Catholic Church (CC), United Methodist Church (UMC) and Jewish Community in Republic of Macedonia (JCRM). The basic contact information have been provided by the Commission for Relations with the Religious Communities in Macedonia.

The publication of the Address Book was realized with the financial support by the Danish and Norwegian Government in cooperation with the Danish Church Aid (DCA) and Norwegian Church Aid (NCA). In the end, I would like to express my gratefulness to every one forming part of the program team, as well as to all the other participants in the preparation of this edition. With their contribution, the publication of this edition was made possible and its content was enriched.

Executive Director
INTRODUCTION

The Address Book of the religious communities in Macedonia is the first of this type in Republic of Macedonia. It has been published as part of the Bridging religions in Macedonia programme (PRM) conducted by Macedonian Center for International Cooperation (MCIC), in cooperation with the Macedonian Orthodox Church (MOC), Islamic Community in Republic of Macedonia (IC), Catholic Church (CC), United Methodist Church (UMC) and Jewish Community in Republic of Macedonia (JCRM), as well as with the other religious communities in Macedonia.

The Address Book is aimed at circulating more information as regards the churches, religious communities, and religious groups in Macedonia, not only amongst themselves, but also amongst the general public.

Terminology

The name of the publication is Address Book of the religious communities in Macedonia. The legal system of Republic of Macedonia (constitution and respective laws) operates with the terms “religious community” and “religious group”. Under no circumstances, these particular terms enjoy mandatory status in this publication or in any use outside the state institutions. Aside these terms, some organizations name themselves as “church” or with other classifications (ex. philosophical movements, and in one case association of citizens – see below “Insertion Criteria”).

The questionnaire designed for the religious communities, as part of the preparation process, included an option for the religious communities to be able to choose the term that most suitably represents them. The name of their choosing (church, religious community, religious group, or other) is presented in the profile of the religious communities, included in this Address Book.

In the Address Book, except for the listing of the full names of the relevant state institutions and the respective laws, the term “religious communities” has been consistently used on the grounds of practicality (shorter reference for the mainly used term) and inviolability of the religious community’s right to use a name of its choosing.

Methodology of data gathering, accuracy, and entirety

Taking as a point of departure the previous experience, MCIC has organized database gathering with the help of pollsters. The basic information (name of the religious community, address, and telephone number) has been provided by the Commission for Relations with the Religious Communities in advance. The pollsters have been delegated by the religious communities themselves, and a basic questionnaire (containing collective information about the religious community, prepared in their seats, respectively), as well as particular questionnaire designed for the religious communities with special organizational structure (including information for the organizational units of the religious community – eparchies, muftis and the like) have been developed to serve as basic tools to the pollsters.

The pollsters have filled in the questionnaires on the basis of the interviews conducted with official representatives from the respective religious communities or their organizational units, and before be submitted, the questionnaires have been confirmed and verified by the heads/presidents of the religious communities or the authorized personnel. Great efforts have been made in order to achieve high level of accuracy, as well as to present the data in their entirety, and to obtain a permission to release the information publicly.

With regard to some of the questions (like for example, estimated existence of the religious community, number of believers) no precise data are provided in all of the religious communities. In those cases, the submitted data represent personal assessment by the religious communities themselves. In relation to the questions considered as irrelevant by the religious community, as well as those with no available answer, no data are included in the Address Book.
Insertion Criteria

The primary criteria to be met in order for the religious community to be inserted in the Address Book is to be registered with the Commission for Relations with the Religious Communities. The Commission administers a register that lists 25 religious communities. The Address Book covers 23 religious communities registered in compliance with the Law on religious communities and religious groups. Data on two religious communities are lacking, the International Church of Christ and the Satya Sai Center. Regarding the first case, the data that have been submitted no longer correspond to the reality (the given address and telephone number are occupied by people with no relations whatsoever with the religious community) and have not been updated in the interim. An initiative was undertaken to determine whether this religious community still exists and operates in Macedonia, however to no avail, thus it leads to conclude that the religious community no longer exists. The Satya Sai Center has applied for re-registration into civic organization, since they no longer consider themselves to be nor religious community, neither religious group (as registered). Therefore the decision not to include the Satya Sai Center in the Address Book was made at their request. Accordingly, we may say that the Address Book provides complete coverage of the extant registered religious communities in Macedonia.

Arrangement

The religious communities have been presented in the Address Book by virtue of the registration date of the religious communities. The order-line in the case of the five religious communities specified in the Constitution of Republic of Macedonia corresponds to the one followed in the Constitution. Taking into consideration the afore-mentioned criteria, as well as the larger scope of information a propos those religious communities, the particular order has been retained, instead of the alphabetical order.

The included data

The following data have been included in the Address Book:
- general: name of the religious community (in the official languages used by the religious community, as well in English language), short form, contact information (address, telephone, fax, e-mail, web-site), registration information, type of religious community, estimated existence;
- organizational structure: highest-ranking clerical and secular posts Organizational structure, Members of the highest-ranking organ of the religious community, human resources (priests, education personnel, employees, estimated number of believers);
- religious objects; type and number of religious objects, contact information of the main religious object, types of religious ceremonies;
- educational institutions with the basic contact information;
- publishing activity (basic contact information on the publishing service within the religious community or in special organization, if it is registered as such, and the most important editions);
- humanitarian activities (basic contact information on the humanitarian service within the religious community or registered association of citizens);
- the information regarding the organizational aspects of the religious communities are available in the Macedonian language version.

APPENDIX 1: Differences in the names of the religious communities

The designations of the religious communities in the Address Book agree with the ones given in the questionnaires by the communities themselves. However, some of the designations do differ with the terms under which they are registered with the Commission for Relations with the Religious Communities. The differences are presented in the chart below to provide better identification of the religious communities and clarity for the readers.

APPENDIX 3: Differences in the number of believers

In the Address Book, the religious communities have indicated accurate number (as regards the religious communities that keep records of the members) or an estimated number of believers. In the cases of the Macedonian Orthodox Church and the Islamic Religious Community in Republic of Macedonia, the given numbers appears to include the believers currently not living/residing in Macedonia.

In the table below, a comparison of the data given in the Address Book with the ones determined on the last Census of population, conducted in 2002 (in compliance with the responds to the question “Declare your religious affiliation”), has been made. The data has been provided by the State Statistical Office of Republic of Macedonia.
