

Editor: Gonce Jakovleska

Date: 2007

PDF: trainings-consultations-mcic.pdf

With this brochure we are presenting you the arguments for choosing MCIC as the partner in your professional development and the capacity building of your organization. With it we would like to introduce our training and consultation program that has been developed through the 13 years of experience in cooperation with eminent international consulting companies.

More than 4,600 participants in our trainings and their organizations already feel the benefits of the improved managing skills, the designed systems and procedures, the developed monitoring practices, the improved project and strategic planning, as well as of the acquired facilitation, presentation and other skills.

We are offering you a list of 24 fully developed training programs. In addition, our team of expert and experienced consultants is ready to prepare and carry out programs specifically designed for your needs.

The aim of the MCIC training programs is to develop the skills and competencies of all those who believe that after completing the formal education people should continue to educate themselves and advance in their careers by studying along the lines of the best internationally acknowledged methodologies and the most successful local practices.

Our trainings, besides being designed to develop the individual skills of the participants, are also effectively applied at the organizational level providing organizational development and changes.